INTRODUCING Mr. and Mrs. John Coolidge. The bride, the former Miss Florence Trumbull, is the daughter of J. H. Trumbull, governor of Connecticut. Above is the modest apartment house in which the young couple will make their home in Westville, Conn. They are now on a motor honeymoon.

EL CERRITO TO STUDY CEDING OF SAN PABLO

A request by the Richmond city council that El Cerrito cede one half of San Pablo avenue to Richmond was received by the El Cerrito city council in session Monday night. The communication, signed by City Manager James A. McVittie of Richmond, asked that this action be taken in order that Richmond might improve the western portion of San Pablo avenue.

At the present time El Cerrito controls all of San Pablo avenue and Richmond Annex, a part of the corporate city of Richmond lies on the western side of the avenue. The western portion of the street has not been improved and residents of the Annex have asked that the work be done. The Richmond city council has declared that it will not do the work under the western portion of the avenue is given to Richmond.

The communication was referred to City Engineer Ross L. Calfee for one week.

RIO GRANDE ON RAMPAGE

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Sept. 23.—UP.—The heaviest rain in 50 years that struck this section of New Mexico last night sent the Rio Grande on a rampage, caused one death and forced women and children in the little town of San Marcial, 100 miles south of here, to evacuate their homes late today.

Tonight San Marcial, which suffered a similar flood last month, had only 150 men and 10 women within its limits out of a normal population of about 1000. The remainder had taken to the hills nearby.

All available men at San Marcial were working to strengthen the levee, menaced by the spreading waters of the Rio Grande. Many bridges south of Albuquerque were washed away by the flooded stream.

Mrs. Margarita Ort, 65, was crushed to death at Santa Fe when her abode home, built 200 years ago, fell and buried her in the wreckage.

Oakland Bandits Sent To Prison

OAKLAND, Sept. 23.—UP.—Sentences of five years to life for robbery of a Bank of Italy branch here were imposed upon Lorraine Booth Gordon and Allen C. Herbert here today. They were ordered to San Quentin.

2 KIDNAPED IN ARMORED MACHINE

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 23.—UP.—Authorities throughout the Sacramento valley late today were asked to search for two unnamed bandits who stole an armored automobile containing $12,000 from the heart of this city's business district at 3 p. m.

The two bandits forced their way into the armored car just as it was leaving the Weinstock-Lubin store, and made the driver and a representative of the Weinstock company accompany them.

The two kidnaped men, A. E. Elsbauer, the driver, and J. L. Cramer, cashier for the company, were made to leave the automobile three miles north of Sacramento.

The stronghold, which was chained to the floor of the armored car, contained $2000 in cash and $10,000 in negotiable checks.

PANTAGES CASE NEARING JURY

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 23.—(U.P.)—In order that the jurors hearing the second degree murder charge of Mrs. Lois Pantages might retire with his words fresh in their minds, Defense Attorney Max Steiner late today protracted his closing argument.

He will finish early in Tuesday's session and will be followed by Deputy District Attorney James P. Costello for the state before the jury retires.

In his argument today, Steiner held that an operation performed upon Juro Rokumoto, the Japanese who died after his car had been struck by that of Mrs. Pantages, was responsible for the gardener's death. Dr. Donald Cass, performed an unnecessary operation and the accident itself would not have taken Rokumoto's life, he declared. Steiner also attacked the state's contention that Mrs. Pantages was intoxicated at the time of the crash.

"There is no evidence whatever to indicate that Mrs. Pantages was drinking on that day," he said.

"Through Harry Lederbrink the prosecution attempted to prove such a point by Lederbrink, who said he had talked with Mrs. Pantages and that she addressed him with an obscene remark told the court she was riding in a cream colored car. You of the jury said the machine and you know it was black."

The case probably will be given to the jury Tuesday afternoon.

Blanche Sweet Asks Divorce

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 23.—UP.—Blanche Sweet, the pretty blonde film actress today filed suit for divorce on cruelty grounds against Marshall "Mickey" Neilan, well-known director and producer.

Miss Sweet charged that her husband was abusive, quarrelsome, insulting to her guests and continually brought objectionable persons to her home.

The complaint revealed that they separated last January 14 when Neilan allegedly came home at 2 a. m., bringing with him a party of men and women, all under the influence of liquor, whom she did not know.

Y CAMPAIGN STARTS AT DINNER

With the slogan: "Fly High for the Y," the campaign of the Richmond Y. M. C. A. took off on its "flight" at a dinner session in headquarters last night.

Clyde Parker, chairman of the campaign presided.

The altitude goal set by campaign committee is $8500 and the pilots have until Friday night to reach this height.

Elmer E. Nichols, director of the Berkeley Y. M. C. A., was the speaker at the "take off" dinner and told of the field of the Y. M. C. A. in developing character.

"Competition is keener and keener and more ruthless year by year and character must be trained," he declared. "It would be better if our children were unborn than to have them born and then given no training. Our public schools are wholly unable to deal with the problem to which the Y. M. C. A. devotes its attention."

The building of character, I have seen boys fall by the wayside because they can't get this need from the school. Mental acuteness without character produces criminals; athletic greatness without character develops animals."

CLOSING OF STREET ASKED

The Stauffer Chemical company last night petitioned the city council for the closing of Beach avenue, between Forty-sixth and Forty-seventh streets.

The company is the owner of all property on both sides of the street and offers to pay all the expense incidental to the closing proceedings.

The petition was referred to the city planning commission for one week.

New Hydrant To Be Expensive

W. W. Scott, chairman of the fire committee, made a report to the city council last night on the petition filed for a hydrant at the corner of Third street and Cutting boulevard.

Scott stated that 1000 feet of pipe would have to be laid, and the cost was estimated at between $2000 and $3000. This expenditure had not been provided for in the budget, and he asked that the matter lay over for another week.

Scott said it was possible there might be a balance after the 12-inch main was laid for the inner harbor wharf and if there was, this money could be used for the additional hydrant.

DeMolay Group Jobs Daughters Planning Dance

The Richmond chapter of DeMolay and the Richmond Bethel of Job's Daughters will entertain at a dance to be held Oct. 25, probably at the Odd Fellows' hall. It was stated yesterday.

Tenth St. Paving To Be Finished Friday

Laying of the topping on South Tenth street started yesterday morning and the street will be open to traffic by Friday according to E. A. Hoffman, city engineer, who is supervising the work.

The street will afford direct access to the new inner harbor wharf which will be dedicated on Oct. 12. The dedication ceremonies of the wharf have been postponed until the October date so that motorists will be able to drive directly to the wharf.

Paving of south Tenth street which will also afford access to the Ford Motor company site is one of the last moves of the city in living up to its agreement with the Ford Motor company in the establishment of a factory on the local waterfront.

Work has been rushed on the paving of the street to afford a direct route to the inner harbor wharf and a vast area of waterfront industrial property.

Southern Pacific officials announced several days ago that the spur from the main line to the new wharf would be completed in a short time. Work trains have been using a portion of the track and it is expected that the first trainload of cargo to the new shipping facility will be rolling over the new rails within a few days.

Cupid Defeated As Age Bars Marriage

If it wasn't for their parents, the newspapers and the San Francisco police, Leonard Williams, 18, of Richmond, and Edna Raymond, 17, also of this city, would be man and wife.

Their parents objected strenuously, especially the mother of Leonard, to their marriage. The two decided that they would marry without the consent of their parents, and went to San Francisco last Thursday to file intentions to marry.

They added a few years to their ages for the benefit of the license bureau, police declare.

When Leonard failed to return home, his mother became suspicious and made a search through finding her son's name printed there.

She appealed to San Francisco police, who found the boy late in the afternoon at a downtown corner in San Francisco. They held the lad in the jail until his mother came for him. No charge has been preferred against the boy.

He declared yesterday that in spite of everything he and Edna were going to be married.

Prize Planned For Harbor Fete Here

Cash prize prizes for the celebration of the Richmond inner harbor on Oct. 12 were considered by the members of the Richmond Automobile Dealers' association at a luncheon meeting in the Hotel Squaline yesterday, with J. P. Strom, president.

The members assigned the prize prizes and other features which will make the automobile show at the harbor celebration a great event.

It was pointed out at the meeting that there will be plenty of parking space near the new terminal building so that everyone can find an easy place to leave their cars. It was announced by

Rev. George Forman Assigned New Post

The new church was made yesterday at the annual conference of Methodist churches of the Southern branch, held in Modesto.

Rev. E. A. Williams of Cloverdale will succeed Rev. Forman here and will deliver his first sermon Oct. 6.

Rev. Forman plans to leave for his new charge on Oct. 1, and will not be here to witness the dedication of the new $2500 social hall for the local church, which he has been active in appointing.

He has personally directed the workers and has been instrumental in raising the money with which to build the new edifice. Rev. Forman and his family came here two years ago from Lincoln.

City May Declare Holiday October 12

As to whether Oct. 12 the day of the big harbor celebration will be declared a holiday, was left in the hands of Mayor A. L. Paulsen by the city council at its meeting last night.

It is believed a proclamation will be issued, and it is likely the merchants will be requested to close their places of business on that date.

Gasoline Pump Permit Granted

At the meeting of the city council last night, L. Diaz was given permission to install a gasoline pump on Second street, about 10 feet north of McDonald avenue.

The grant was made on the recommendation of Superintendent of Streets E. A. Hoffman.

REBELS OPEN FIRE ON TROOPS

SHANGHAI, Sept. 23.—UP.—Firing started today in a new revolt against the Chinese Nationalist government, centering about Ichang, the central province of Hupeh. An unconfirmed report said British and American consuls at Ichang had ordered their Nationals to flee eastward to Hankow for safety.

General Chang Fah-Wei, dismissed by President Chiang Kai-shek for ordering unauthorized movements of his famous "Iron-sides" troops, concealed a battery of artillery near Ito, 20 miles from Ichang.

WESTERN GAS DENIED PERMIT

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 23.—UP.—Petition for rehearing of the State Railroad commission's refusal to permit the Western Natural Gas company to construct a pipe line from Kettleman Hills to Richmond and serve as a public utility was denied by the commission today.

As a result of this decision, it is understood that the Western Gas company will continue its plans however, and build the gas line, claiming that it will act as a private carrier.

The commission recently denied that original application made by the Western company and granted permission to the Pacific Gas and Electric company, thus granting the P. G. & E. a virtual monopoly on the natural gas business in northern California.

Alpha Masons Meet Tonight

A novel evening has been planned by the Alpha lodge of Masons for tonight at Masonic Temple. Following a short business session an interesting program has been arranged which will consist of musical numbers, the Shrine of the Shambhala and its patients. The Chanters from Ashmole Shrine Temple in Oakland will also appear on the program and will present a delightful and representative of musical numbers.

A most pleasant evening has been planned and all Masons, and their wives and friends are invited to attend. John McGrath is in charge, and is assisted by Clara Horner, and Dr. W. F. Fraser.

Frank Chandler, traffic manager of the Certain-teed plant, will be chairman of the day.

The matter was referred to the fire committee.

REALITIES

They clutch your hands and catch you at the throat:
The tender, little, worn things from the past—
A mellow portrait, books, an old armchair—
They each have interested, held you fast.
How can you hush the throbblings that awake
From slumbering memories and the old heartache?

Here stands the old hall clock, beside the stairs,
That struck long hours, when, brooding in the night,
You lay alert and listened for its voice;
And once the moonbeams shivered cold and white
Among the leaves that brushed against the pane,
And there the sun crimsoned a weather-vane.

You can remember dull of winter dusk,
And see great logs, and hear the snapping fire;
Recall the tired faces in the fold
Of warmth, where leaping flames burn ever higher
Against a chimney face—for, just to-day,
You saw them when you swept charred wood away.

Like millstones at your neck they cling and cling:
The tender, little, worn things that you know,
And plead for recognition, and evoke
Remembrances from somewhere long ago
A silent hearth a faded tapestry—
Though we are dreams—are life's reality!

That Deathless Domestic Dispute

"SHE stays out until one or two in the morning, she puts on too much paint and powder."

"He doesn't want to do the same things that I like to do," she says to the movies. All he wants to do is stay home and work crossword puzzles."

So a typical husband and a typical wife complained of each other, a few days ago, in a Brooklyn court. Their case seems to us worth comment because its essential features are duplicated in so many New York homes. What most often gets husbands and wives "all hot and bothered" is not some big dramatic offense, it is the natural, almost inescapable argument about how to spend the evening! The trouble is that a man and a woman spend their days so differently, and, as a consequence, they want different after-dinner diversion.

The man, who leaves home in the morning for work downtown is surrounded all day long by noise and crowds and confusion. The evening racket of New York, the pressure of people in the subway, on the sidewalk, in restaurants and lunchrooms, these strains wear on his nerves and nervous system. The worker downtown may think he is accustomed to his surroundings, may indeed develop a culture of resistance which permits him to work efficiently, but subconsciously the strain persists. The result—our desk is in one of the busiest, noisiest sections of New York, and we speak whereof we know—is that when evening comes, the worker is likely to feel like Ecclesiastes' sea captain. "I want from you is silence, and damned little of that!" He wants to stay home and do crossword puzzles, or read the paper, or listen to the radio—the wants peace and quiet within his own four walls.

HIS work, on the other hand, does her work all day and every day within those same four walls. She gets so tired of looking at them—no matter how attractively they are painted! Her house or apartment is comparatively quiet; its most considerable commotion a baby's cry and a telephone call. She sees few persons, except delivery boys and peddlers. Her work itself is endlessly repetitious and unexciting.

When night and her husband come, the last form of argument that appeals to her is a quiet home evening. She longs to go places and do things.

in that most expressive slang phrase: to dine out and dance, to go to a friend's for bridge and supper, to go, at the least, to the movies and get a bite to eat.

Her reaction is just as natural as her husband's; the pity is that they react in precisely opposite directions, each trying to drag the other along his or her way! She argues that, after she's "stuck at home" all day, he might take her out and let her have a little fun. He contends that, "when a man's worked hard all day," he's tired enough to stay at home and rest. Their points of view are about as compatible as the irreconcilable force in conflict with the immovable mass; and the result, to quote a wisecracker, is an inconceivable fuss.

WHAT is the solution? In the case of the Berines of Brooklyn Magistrate Eliperin suggested compromise. He told the husband that his wife wasn't harmed by a bit of makeup and that taking her to the movies now and then wouldn't harm her either. To the wife, the Judge observed that it wouldn't be a bad idea for her to stay home with her husband some nights and "improve your own mind by helping him work out his crossword puzzles."

Some such game of give-and-take is probably the best way of ending the domestic dispute between want-to-go home and stay-at-home husbands and wives. The additional proviso that the person sacrificing his or her idea of the way to pass an evening do it cheerfully, without the martyr pose. No should such adjustment be one-sided—if on one night the husband goes to a dinner party when he'd like to stay at home, on the next night the wife should keep him company at home, even if she'd like to go to a dance. Of course, if a man is sufficient social sophistication, there's no reason why she shouldn't go out now and then without him.

Another answer to the enigma has been found by the happily married fifty-fifty couple. When the wife, as well as the husband, works downtown every day, as well as he, he is likely to be more than ready for a quiet home evening. With similar jobs in a similar environment, their ideas of rest and recreation are frequently similar. So there isn't any dispute, nobody has to make a sacrifice of personal preference, everything is lovely and the goose hangs high—even though Faith Baldwin, the novelist, is but the latest of many critics to insist that only a minority of fifty-fifty marriages are successful. Believe her if you like—we don't!

Home grown tomatoes continue to bring color and variety to the September table at a comparatively small outlay. Their flavor is infinitely better than that of high-priced winter tomatoes from far-away gardens.

Sound, ripe tomatoes of uniform size are desirable for salad cups or the stuffed beauties baked to a turn. Less perfect stock does nicely for soups, sauces, jellied salads and catsups.

Without intelligent seasoning, however, even nature's best specimens prove a bit disappointing when cooked. An extra sprinkling of this and a second dash of that often mark the difference between tomato success and failure.

Just-day's-it is for a tomato cooked just right in a thick and flavorful sauce. The seasoning aids are most important.

STUFFED TOMATOES (5)

Five medium tomatoes
A sprinkling of salt and pepper
Two tablespoons butter
One tablespoon each minced onion
Salt, pepper, paprika
Sprinkle of thyme
One-half cup broken walnuts
One cup toasted bread crumbs
One cup water
Baking time, thirty to forty-five minutes in a moderate oven—350 degrees F.
Sometimes stuffed tomatoes are baked upon a greased plate without any liquid, and sometimes they are baked in a scant measure of water. Slow, thorough cooking is imperative in either case.

The following tools and utensils will be found useful in testing the above recipe: A sharp knife, bowl, baking dish, tablespoon, teaspoon, nut-cracker, small pan for cooking the stuffing, measuring cup and clock.

Wipe the tomatoes with a damp cloth; cut a slice off the top of each and carefully scoop out the pulp, leaving a perfect cup. Sprinkle the inside of each cup with salt and pepper and let stand while cracking the nuts and preparing the stuffing. Cut the pulp into bits and place in the bowl.

Break the nuts in small pieces; mince the onion and parsley; crumble dry toast to fill a cup. Melt the butter in the pan and add the onion mince; cook a moment. Then add the crumbs, nuts and parsley and mix well. Stir in the tomato pulp and heat well. Taste, adding sufficient salt, some paprika and a dash of thyme. When hot, fill the mixture into the seasoned cups; stand the cups in the greased baking dish, pouring the water around them and set in the moderate oven for thirty to forty-five minutes, or until nicely cooked. The cooking time depends upon the size of the tomatoes.

Serve garnished with cross or parsley on a heated platter. For variety lay a bit of bacon over the top of each tomato, and under the broiler to broil the bacon and then serve at once.

Huston May Be Depended Upon to Do the Things Hoover Wants Done in Handling Affairs of the Republican Party

WASHINGTON, D. C., September 23.—Claudius Huston, the new Chairman of the Republican National Committee, will be to Hoover what Chairman William Morgan Butler was to Coolidge and John J. Raskob to Smith, had the November election turned out differently.

National headquarters of the Republican committee will be at No. 1000 Pennsylvania Avenue. Known better as the White House, Chairman Huston will do the things the President wishes to have done.

In the final analysis that is the best way to have things in a party in power. There is not much to be gained from a President and his party machine working at cross purposes.

Huston is tall and big-boned. His clothes hang loosely on him. He has the cold, discerning eye of a banker. He has a fine mind. His manner of doing things is such as to inspire the confidence of all with whom he comes in contact. He eats a whole broiled lobster whenever he has a chance. When he works he duffs his coat and reveals that he wears suspenders.

The differences which developed between G. O. P. headquarters and the Hoover headquarters during the 1928 campaign are not likely to be repeated. Mr. Huston will not be a White House rubber stamp but he will initiate no antagonistic policies. He will have things out with the President. If he cannot convert Mr. Hoover to the Huston view of view he will carry on for the Hoover idea.

Chairman Huston will approach Mr. Hoover somewhat differently than did Mr. Butler. The latter is likely to have Mr. Hoover assenting to a lot of the Huston policies. Dr. Work seemed to let down as soon as he obtained the G. O. P. as a patient. Huston will agree with the President on a general line of action. He will develop and pursue that to its logical conclusion.

Huston may not be expected to be running to the White House every time a troublesome letter from Mississippi or Georgia or Maine reaches his desk. He has precious little patience with the professional hangers-on and political camp followers. He seems to guess their true importance as being less than nil.

Huston has a pretty well defined notion of what Hoover wishes the National Committee to do. He proposes to get about the business of doing it. Nothing will be done to cause any excitement when the morning newspapers reach the White House breakfast table. Hoover will never expect to be weakened around midnight to learn that Huston has set fire to the Potomac River just to spite Bill Borah or Jim Watson.

With House denials of Republican National Committee, information will not be any feature of the Huston Chairmanship. The political strategy of the National Committee will run parallel to the personal desires of the President.

Some of Mr. Hoover's close friends wished that another than Huston might be chosen. Washington thinks the President made a smart selection. T. C. Gregory of California would have been a lot smarter in the job.

OLD GUARD RECOGNIZED
Chairman Huston's regime begins with a practical recognition of the men who are most likely to be of help to President Hoover—Ralph Williams from Oregon and David Mulvane, the veteran guardman from Kansas.

Williams and Mulvane can do Herbert Hoover more good among the practical Republicans here and there about the country than any other twenty members of the committee. Their worth has been lost sight of now and then because they have refrained from the publicity stunts which have gained fame for others far less worthy or capable.

The World's Window

By Pierre Van Paassen

PARIS, September.

The Baker's Woes

The Parisian baker has always been the first victim of popular wrath. In the good old days of revolution his shop became generally the first objective of the mob's attacks. That the animosity against the baker has not entirely died out could be seen recently when Le Journal, not a Red or radical newspaper by any means, carried a cartoon on the front page showing two barefooted and unkempt Parisian urchins, standing in front of a huge advertising poster showing in brilliant colors the delights of some chic seaside resort or other. "That's where the baker's kid has gone," remarks one urchin. And the other replies: "Yes, with our copper!" Why the baker has always borne the brunt of plebeian indignation is a mystery. He certainly does not grow rich any quicker than the grocer or the butcher or the tavern keeper on the corner. Especially the latter, it must be said that the poor figure that they carry.

The incident is held to indicate that while he is fostering mountain schools in Virginia, Mr. Hoover has not been along without bread. But then again, they don't seem to be able to get along without the tavern keeper either, and our experience is that as a species tavern keepers are the most ungenerous and callous individuals on earth. The man who spent the best part of his wages on Saturday nights at the saloon is unceremoniously thrown out on the Monday when he tries to get a glass of wine on credit. Vermouth-cassis may go up fifty centimes a glass. Red wine may have doubled in price since the war. Not a word of protest. But when bread goes up half a sou, pound there is a roar of indignation all over Paris and the baker has to stand a lot of scowling and harsh words.

Old Films

Near the Est Station in Paris the Inquisitive explorer of Parisian mysteries will find an establishment where old and used-up films are sold at bargain prices. Most of the films will just stand running through the projector four or five times more; after that they are useless. We were told that if there was no demand in Paris these veterans of the screen were shipped out to the Congo or to Madagascar or the African interior. Upon looking over some of the titles of these films we felt a pang of envy over the fact that jungles and forests are such delectable places as this: "The Woman With the Wolf Face" and "The Knife-Thrust in the Rolls-Royce." The price was only 30 francs apiece, or about $1.25. "Dramas From Life" was priced at 25 francs ($1), but a salesman added the information that the last thirty feet were missing. "An Idyll Among Phantoms" came a little higher—250 francs. The description intimated that it dealt with a mysterious murder in a medieval castle on the Rhine. "The Mysteries of New York" in ten episodes and twenty-four parts, 10,000 metres long, came at 1,000 francs, which is dirt cheap, considering the subject and the length of the film. "The Happiness of Being a Flapper" was sold under our very eyes and fetched 100 francs. That's one film the cannibals won't see on the Equator. For it was an American tourist who carried it off.

Elysee Memories

Interesting memories are recalled

by the fact that the President of the Republic has relegated his carriages, replaced by motor cars, to the museum at Compiègne, where in days to come they will be looked upon as curiosities. There is one man in Paris who is filled with sadness at this thought, says a writer in the Times. He is the ex-coachman at the Elysee, who drove several Presidents. Do you think that a motor car, however magnificent it may be, can inspire him with feelings of joy and admiration? He thinks only of his "berlines" of the past, one white, the other blue, in which he drove King Edward VII., the Queen of Holland, King Peter of Serbia and the Czar Alexander. M. Doumergue, marching with the times, suppressed the brilliant equipages of the Elysee. The old coachman has a great admiration for him, considering him a brave man with an irresistible smile, but he remembers that the President is a bachelor, and somehow to this fact is ascribed the lack of ceremonial carriage outings. On the other hand, M. and Mme. Poincaré, though they were a very modest couple when they occupied the Elysee, loved their equipages. The President simply reviled in them. As for M. Paul Deschanel, he was the President after the coachman's own heart. He received so many elegant people that the coachman had to wear his best livery every day. Now the livery, along with the carriages and harness, has gone to the museum. It is a small compensation that he will be immortalized, since his name is stitched in the lining of the livery. He can only hope for better days.

BIGGER AND BETTER SCENES FOR EVERYBODY

AUGUSTUS MINGOLD, the celebrated preparations manufacturer, was ill at ease.

"What, dear," said Mrs. Augustus Mingold, "is the matter with you?" "I never felt better in my life," said Mr. Mingold. "I am only trying to think of a new disease."

"How long since you were elected one of the Mayo Brothers?" asked Mrs. Mingold. "No, dear, it isn't that," explained Mr. Mingold. "I am not trying to safeguard humanity. I am only trying to make an honest living."

Mrs. Augustus Mingold did not understand.

"Listen honey," continued Mr. Mingold. "Where were we before I invented Presto Powders? I'll tell you where we were. We were living in a three-room flat over the delicatessen store. I had been trying to market Presto Powders for seventeen years with indifferent success. We never even got to first base till I invented a disease for Presto Powders to cure."

"Yes, dear, I remember," conceded Mrs. Mingold. "Then," continued Mr. Mingold, "I brought out Patway's Peppy Paste. Do you remember that first year when I scared the public to death about red-capped gum?"

"Will I ever forget it?" said Mrs. Mingold. "For 6,000 years people had been afflicted with red-capped gum," said Mr. Mingold. "But never were they frightened about it till Augustus Mingold invented peppy paste."

"Four out of five have it," chimed in Mrs. Mingold. "If your cure was so successful I should think only about two out of five would have it now."

"Now, honey," warned Mr. Mingold, "never let your sense of humor mix with my business. Well, after three successful seasons I then brought out a national epidemic of city skin and enlarged pores. Will you ever forget

Brown Tones in Jewelry

IT WOULD seem natural in a season when brown ranks so high in the color scale that costume jewelry should lend contrast. Rather does it emphasize the frock or street ensemble in one of the shades that are in vogue.

Only an experiment will prove the attractiveness of pearls toned to a light brown. Or the striking harmony of amber beads reflecting their clear light the varying depths of brown in the costume of silk, woolen or velvet.

These neck chokers or longer necklaces may be worn with equal effect when other of the rich autumn colors are chosen.

SUGGESTIONS FOR YEAR BOOKS OF CLUBS OFFERED

It is now the time of the year when the clubs of the California Federation of Women's Clubs are preparing for the opening of their activities and arranging for the printing of the 1929-30 Year Books. Mrs. H. S. Stroh of Los Angeles, the state chairman of programs, has made the following 15 suggestions which will be of great assistance to those making the model year book.

Neat, chaste binding; good paper, clear print.

On outside cover, name of club, city or town, with year 1929-30.

Inside first page—name of club, street address and telephone; at bottom, when organized, incorporated, date of entering state and general Federation.

General Federation president, state, district and county with addresses and chairman if you have room; follow this with the district conference and chairman if you have room; if not, place the names of the district conference chairmen of your own club.

Follow this with your section announcements.

Follow this with reports of president, secretary, curator and treasurer.

After this it is well to place the programs, either the list of last year or if you prepare your programs a year ahead, the present year.

Follow this up with club regulations and general information. Now the N-laws and list of members with date of their entrance into the club in front of the name and addresses and telephone number after the name.

It is a good thing to place this book belongs to Mrs. X, Y, Z, address and telephone number in your book, also some blank pages for notes and a calendar for your club on the last page.

Lastly you may place many other things in your year book, but print some splendid quotations all through the book. You will get the richest returns from these as they become a part of those who memorize them and so become eternal.

What Society Is Wearing

MRS. GEORGE B. ST. GEORGE FAVORS A SINGLE-BREASTED

A diagonal closing characterizes the single-breasted riding coat worn by Mrs. George B. St. George at Tuxedo.

Interesting also are the wide-roached raters of the collar and slashed hip pockets. The skirt, which is obtained for a side saddle, is a bit longer than those of previous seasons. Beneath the coat may be glimpsed a soft white broadcloth shirt, finished off by a soft collar and four-in-hand tie, held in place by an amusing stickpin bearing the silhouette of a horse.

For accessories Mrs. George has chosen a ripply brimmed felt hat with rather square crown, pull-on, heavy capeskin gloves and dark leather riding boots.

Mrs. St. George, like her husband and small daughter, is deeply interested in sports. She is an active member of the Tuxedo Kennel club, as well as the Horse Show organization.

Mrs. Hanna, who is chairman of public welfare for the Alameda district federation of Women's clubs, urged the clubwomen to visit their county institutions, the county jail, the county poor house, and to do or act in which could be suggested in improving conditions. She stressed the work of the health center of Richmond which has accomplished so much good work not only in the city but in outside towns of the county.

Mrs. Hanna asked the clubwomen if they do something for the old people of the county who do it at some other time than Christmas, when they are deluged with the kindnesses of a year in one day.

Social and industrial relations, she pointed out, are of special importance, and urged her district she plans a survey of working conditions surrounding women and girls. The auto camp is a matter for investigation many times. Of dance halls, Mrs. Hanna said that there are not a great many public dance halls, but an enormous number of public dances, and that the conditions in the dance hall in many cases is correct, but the condition just outside the dance hall is all wrong.

Richmond club will join the other clubs of the county at the county federation meeting in October in giving a linen shower for the benefit of the Sun-Hine Camp, where Turkish towels, single sheets, pillow cases are needed for the small patients.

Refreshments were served after the meeting by a committee composed of Mrs. Herald Edgar, Mrs. J. F. Spires, Mrs. Esther Eola and Mrs. W. F. Faber.

The next regular meeting of the club will be in charge of Mrs. Zeldia Chapin, who has arranged a program of musical interest. On Monday, Oct. 7, Mrs. C. C. Kratzer, chairman of the department, will tell the club members something of her tour of European countries.

The chrysanthemum show, which promises to be an interesting affair, open to the public, is scheduled for Oct. 28.

MIGRATORY TOTS DISCUSSED BY RICHMOND CLUB

Migratory children, of which there are 60,000 in the state, came in for discussion at the meeting of Richmond club yesterday afternoon, when Mrs. Thomas Hanna of Martinez addressed the members on problems of public welfare. She claimed one of the biggest problems to be the children of migratory parents, who go from town to town without educational advantages and can only grow into an illiterate manhood and womanhood. Migratory schools have in some localities taken care of the children for a brief period before the parents move on, but these children at best receive only two or three months' schooling out of a year.

Mrs. Hanna, who is chairman of public welfare for the Alameda district federation of Women's clubs, urged the clubwomen to visit their county institutions, the county jail, the county poor house, and to do or act in which could be suggested in improving conditions. She stressed the work of the health center of Richmond which has accomplished so much good work not only in the city but in outside towns of the county.

Widow of Civil War Veteran Has Birthday Party

Abbey M. Linnell, church worker and ardent suffragette, celebrated her ninety-seventh birthday recently at the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Linnell, 413 Tenth street, and shared honors with her grandson, S. G. Linnell, it being also his birthday anniversary.

Mr. Linnell, who is the widow of a Civil War veteran, remembers when she witnessed the survey of the first railroad west of Chicago. Mrs. Linnell has seen with interest the invasion of women into the business world, for she was one of the first to undertake a business career, having learned the dressmaking and millinery trade. Left as a widow with four small children at the close of the Civil War, Mrs. Linnell worked as a dressmaker and milliner to support them. Three of her children live, including Charles A. Linnell, of this city, at whose home members of the family, including one child, three great-grandchildren, all of Richmond, assembled to celebrate her anniversary.

She was born in Canada Sept. 21, 1832, and lived there until a young woman, when her family moved to Illinois. Later she crossed the plains for the West. She has resided in Long Beach for 22 years until this year, when she came to Richmond to make her home with her son, Charles A. Linnell.

The party was in the nature of a family reunion and Mrs. Linnell was the recipient of many lovely gifts, flowers and cards.

Those gathering to do her honor included Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Iverson of Alameda, Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Linnell and children, Florence and Arlett; M. C. ## WOMAN FAINTS, TERM TO BE SET TODAY

MARTINEZ, Sept. 23.—Contenting that the county of Contra Costa had no jurisdiction in the case, attorneys for Mrs. Mary Lopas, convicted extortion letter writer, today appeared to Judge H. V. Alvarado in the superior court asking for a new trial.

The plea was denied by Judge Alvarado who contended that the letters were received in this county and that therefore the alleged crime was committed here.

His contentions were backed by the district attorneys of both Contra Costa and San Francisco counties.

In asking for the new trial, defense attorneys contended that the letters were mailed in San Francisco and thus the scene of crime was San Francisco county and that she should be tried there.

After hearing Judge Alvarado deny the motion for a new trial, Mrs. Lopas fainted. Her fainting spell caused a flurry in the court and attaches summoned County Physician E. W. Merrithew who worked over her for some time before she was revived.

Her condition was said to be such that setting of sentence was delayed by Judge Alvarado until tomorrow.

CHINESE OPEN FIRE IN NEW REVOLT

from Hankow, killing a Chinese messboy and wounding 40 soldiers on the transport, according to advances reaching here. Seven shells struck the ship.

The newest Chinese civil war centered about a "reorganization group" headed by Chang Fah-Wel, who was reported to have allied himself with the so-called Kwangsi faction in a southern drive designed to capture Canton. Chang also was described as seeking an alliance with Feng Yu-Hsing, the "Christian General."

Huper and Kwangsi adjoint. Separating them from Canton is the narrow province of Kwangtung. Between them and Nanking, the Nationalist capital, lies the province of Anhwei.

CHINESE TAKE REVOLT SERIOUSLY

LONDON, Sept. 23.—UP—Reports from China indicate the revolt of Chang Fah-Kwei is taken seriously by the Nationalist government.

The Daily Telegraph's Shanghai correspondent reported Chiang Kai-Shek's government was doing its utmost to sell $10,000,000 of bond issues, ostensibly to help finance the fight against the Ichang war lord.

The Exchange telegram correspondent at Hongkong reported that Chang Fah-Kwei's troops near Hui presumably the same which fired on the Nationalist troops who were disarming Nanking punitive troops sent out under General Chang Sei-Shu.

JOHN COOLIDGE CLAIMS BRIDE

The former president grinned broadly and the crowd cheered. Mrs. Coolidge waved a gloved hand and the crowd cheered again.

Governor Trumbull and Mrs. Trumbull got out of the next car. Another big cheer from the spectators. Then John and Florence jumped out of the Trumbull car and hurried into the protecting privacy of a long, brown canvas canopy, leading from the street to the church door.

A moment later the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March came pealing from the church.

Inside were about eighty selected guests. Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge sat in the front pew, along with Mr. and Mrs. Trumbull.

John and Florence marched slowly down the altar, where the Rev. A. Kenneth Wells awaited.

The ceremony was brief. John gave his bride a wedding ring set with thirteen diamonds.

Members of the wedding party left the church as quickly as they had come.

Sister Attends

Miss Trumbull was attended by her younger sister, Jean, and four bridesmaids—Miss Esther Trumbull, a cousin; Miss Dorothy Clark, another cousin; Mrs. Philip Moorehouse, of New York and Miss Dorothy Rogers, of Pittsburgh.

The wedding party drove from the church to the Trumbull home where a reception was held in a large tent pitched on the lawn.

Afterwards John and Florence left in the sporty roadster which Governor Trumbull gave to his daughter. The bride and groom, it was learned from an authentic source, will drive to Mooshead lake in the Maine woods for their two-weeks' honeymoon.

John has to be back in New Haven in two weeks—the extent of the vacation granted him by the railroad company for which he works.

The Old Sock is out of Date! AN ANCIENT PREJUDICE HAS BEEN REMOVED

That ancient prejudice which hoarded gold with the fanatical zeal of the miser has vanished. Under the sheltering wing of AMERICAN INTELLIGENCE flourish thousands of banking institutions to which the individual safely entrusts his wealth.

"toasting did it"—

Gone is that ancient prejudice against cigarettes—Progress has been made. We removed the prejudice against cigarettes when we removed harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from the tobaccos.

YEARS ago, when cigarettes were made without the aid of modern science, there originated that ancient prejudice against all cigarettes. That criticism is no longer justified. LUCKY STRIKE, the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the choicest tobacco, properly aged and skillfully blended—"It's Toasted."

"TOASTING," the most modern step in cigarette manufacture, removes from LUCKY STRIKE harmful irritants which are present in cigarettes manufactured in the old-fashioned way.

Everyone knows that heat purifies, and so "TOASTING"—LUCKY STRIKE'S extra secret process—removes harmful, corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from LUCKIES which in the old-fashioned manufacture of cigarettes cause throat irritation and coughing. Thus "TOASTING" has destroyed that ancient prejudice against cigarette smoking by men and by women.

"It's toasted"

"It's Toasted"—the phrase that describes the extra "toasting" process applied in the manufacture of Lucky Strike Cigarettes. The fine tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—are scientifically subjected to penetrating heat at minimum, 260°—maximum, 300°, Fahrenheit. The exact, expert regulation of such high temperatures removes impurities. More than a slogan, "It's Toasted" is recognized by millions as the most modern step in cigarette manufacture.

CAPITAL... through Systematic Savings

There is nothing mysterious about capital. True, it has an important sound, but it is nothing more than your savings from yesterday's wages. There is a world of power behind your capital and its accumulation is easy if you are determined to get ahead.

A savings account with American Trust Company can be opened for as little as One Dollar. Systematic additions, with four per cent interest compounded semi-annually, will build up a substantial capital in a surprisingly short time.

RICHMOND ELKS TAKE LEAD IN LEAGUE

The Richmond Elks baseball team regained the lead in the Elks league Sunday by defeating the Alameda Bells by a score of 2 to 1 at Lincoln field, Alameda.

Roy Bliss pitched one of the best games of his career against the Island City club, letting them down with four scattered safeties. He walked only two men.

Ted Carson contributed two errors to the team, but later he made up for his erratic fielding by robbing several batters of hits.

The game was witnessed by more than 4000 persons.

The locals centered their attack on Earl Jones in the second inning, scoring two runs on four hits. After Bartoli had fled out, Friene and Banducci slugged in succession. O'Rourke was a sacrifice fly, Russ signed and Johnson doubled.

Alameda scored in the fourth inning on Vanah's double and Zimmerman's error.

Next Sunday the locals will meet Oakland at the Coast league park, while Alameda takes on San Francisco. If the locals win and Alameda lose, the Richmond Bells will catch the title. Otherwise Richmond and Alameda will be forced to play off a postponed game to decide the championship.

MANY ATHLETES REPORT AT CALIFORNIA

BERKELEY, Sept. 23.—Athletes are not alone for the "favored few" who play on major teams at the University of California.

According to figures compiled from the records of the Associated Students and the Department of Physical Education for men, a strong majority of male students in the undergraduate division engage in some form of competitive athletics during the scholastic year.

During the year 1928-29, with a total male registration of 4750 engaged in some form of athletic competition. Granting that there are duplications in this number, the figures indicate forcibly that California men are athletically inclined, it is pointed out.

Intercollegiate sport—football, baseball, basketball, crew, tennis, track and a number of minor sports—are afforded competition for 763 of the 4345 athletes. Two hundred twenty of these went out for track, 117 for crew, 122 for baseball, 90 for football and smaller numbers for boxing, tennis, hockey, fencing, handball, golf, swimming, wrestling and gymnasium teams. Intercollegiate sports are handled by the Associated Students.

Intercoll and intramural sports, promoted by the physical education department, gave competitive athletic activity to 3582 men. This competition took in the full range of sports taught at the university.

BEAR FROSH LAUDED BY COACH

BERKELEY, Sept. 23.—"They are a good bunch of boys, up to average. Of course, they are green, but our job is to take that out of them."

That, in two sentences, is what Coach Brick Mitchell thinks of his freshman football squad at the University of California.

Mitchell, with his assistant, former Captain George Latham, is drilling his squad thoroughly in fundamentals at night practices on Hilgard field.

The drilling on fundamentals, vitally important in a freshman squad, will continue for several days more before Mitchell even attempts to select an eleven to send against the Santa Clara freshmen in the season's curtain-raiser on September 28. That selection will probably be made a few days before the game, and more precision developed in the execution of plays and in building up an adequate defense.

Squad Selected

However, the first year coach has gone so far as to select a squad of 30 likely looking boys upon which to concentrate his drilling. Additions to this group are constantly being made as Assistant Coach Frank Ribbel uncovers good looking talent on the reserve squad.

Line charging, blocking and tackling, handling the ball, kicking, and practicing the various steps are being drilled—literally hammered—into the new material. In addition the squad is working out on five plays. Mitchell declares that he will add two more plays and a pass to the offensive program of his team before the Santa Clara game.

Members Told

The men composing Mitchell's first squad are: Jack Ashbaugh, center; Russell Pierce, guard; Lee Lallano, half, all of San Francisco; Louis Barnum, half, Santa Clara; Emil Biavachi, full, Taft; Augustus Castro, half, San Luis Obispo; Seldon Del Giorgio, tackle, Buena Park; Louis DeMartini, quarter, Lodi; James Francis, end, San Jose; Sam Gill, quarter, Orcutt; James Hopper, guard, Carmel; Ralph James, center; Milo Mallory, tackle, Robert Neuhaus, tackle; George Nordstrom, guard; Robert Pascoe, guard; Douglas Powers, half, Orville; George Premo, tackle and center, Bakerfield; Charles Strom, half, Washington, D. C.; Marcus Swinney, tackle, Richfield, Idaho; Richard Toser, end, Venice; George Vassili, tackle; Tracy; John Wilkeson, tackle and end, and August Fritche, quarter, Los Angeles; Newton York, center, St. Helena.

Huggins In Losing Fight With Illness

NEW YORK, Sept. 23.—(U.P.)—Miller Huggins, diminutive manager of the New York Yankees baseball team, was not expected by physicians to live through the night, where he is suffering from influenza and erysipelas.

Physicians were fighting hard for the popular little man who made the Yankees one of the outstanding baseball machines of all times. But they were despondent, and feared that he could not withstand the desperate illness that attacked him.

The veteran baseball manager is suffering from a complication of influenza and erysipelas. His condition was reported as "critical and unchanged."

Huggins was taken ill while directing his team at the Yankee stadium last week and left the park before his day's work was through. Dr. Edward King, his physician diagnosed his ailment as influenza and ordered him to the hospital, where the erysipelas developed later.

Poison from the latter has infected his system thoroughly, Dr. King said today, lowering his natural resistance. This made necessary a blood transfusion today then Huggins rallied slightly.

Huggins came to the Yankees in 1917 from St. Louis, to try his hand at developing a chronic second division club into a pennant winner. His first full season in 1918 when the Yankees finished fourth. They were third in 1919 and 1920.

First Pennant

New York won its first American league pennant in 1921, under Huggins' management and repeated in 1922 and 1923. In 1924 the Yankees dropped to second place and in 1925 they collapsed completely, finishing in seventh place.

Huggins, however, made the baseball world take notice in 1925 when he brought his seventh place team of the previous year back to win the fourth pennant. The same team won the flag again in 1927 and 1928.

Known as the "Mite" because he stands just above five feet in height, Huggins has had to fight against discouraging odds to gain the acclaim of the baseball world.

SCOTT GIVEN NOD OVER CAMPOLO

EBBETS FIELD, BROOKLYN, N. Y., Sept. 23.—(U.P.)—Phil Scott, heavyweight champion of all England, scored a surprising victory tonight when he won a decision in 10 rounds over Victorio Campolo, raw product of the Argentine.

After Announcer Joe Humphreys had raised Scott's hand in token of victory, the big Englishman crawled through the ropes and walked to the first row ring-ride to shake hands with Mayor Jimmy Walker of New York City.

The crowd cheered Scott lustily when he left the ring and booed the Argentine loudly.

Discouraged in the face of Scott's superb defense, Campolo fought a disappointing fight and only once or twice during the bout showed any of the promise he displayed in the knockout of Tom Heeney a few weeks ago in the same ring.

Campolo won only two rounds by a clear margin, the first and sixth. He had a slight edge in the seventh, but for the most part Scott outboxed and outgout the Argentine sky-craper in every other session.

Campolo had trouble reaching Scott's body with his long right to the heart, which paved the way for him to knock out Heeney.

Except in the sixth round and one or two other sessions, Campolo was never able to effectively give his long right to the body.

Baseball League To Be Organized

BERKELEY, Sept. 23.—Track, with 220 men participating, was the most popular intercollegiate sport at the University of California last year, according to records of the athletic department of the Associated Students. Baseball was second, with 122 men, used cars and trucks.

Own Earl Radio and—

YOU want to "see" a big league game. At two o'clock in the afternoon reception conditions are not at their best. But to the C. A. Earl, with its "Hair-Line" Super-Selectivity, two o'clock in the afternoon is like two o'clock in the morning.

The station you want may be sandwiched in between the most powerful stations in America. There may be a "Broadway and 42nd Street" traffic jam on the air. It makes no difference.

You Own the Air

So far as you are concerned, that baseball game is the only thing being broadcast. Not a murmur of the outside world comes to disturb your tense excitement when it's "two strikes and the bases full."

Compare the C. A. Earl with any set you please on that essential matter of selectivity. Come in for a demonstration.
